CLCC educates and engages the community at large about the needs of people with developmental disabilities and how CLCC will meet these needs.

With the help of people like you, we can continue to work with our growers within the greenhouse, create informative events, and work toward our mission of building a farmstead community for adults with and without developmental disabilities. Please consider making a donation today.

CLCC is a 501(c)(3) non-profit organization. All gifts are tax deductible. Please visit www.creativelc.org to make a secure donation!

What We Do

Creative Living Community of CT, or CLCC, envisions the establishment of a community in which people with and without developmental disabilities live together as friends, neighbors, co-workers and housemates. The CLCC Farmstead Village will be an inclusive community that honors diversity and leverages the gifts of each person as valued members of the community.

Our greatest needs to date:

- Volunteers
- Community support for the vision
- Land for village concept
- Committee and Board members
- Monetary donations

More information about how to get involved can be found on our website: www.creativelc.org

Imagine...

Single- and multi-unit dwellings for assisted and non-assisted living, vocational training through gardening and animal therapy, therapeutic recreation, spiritual expression, micro enterprises such as an art studio, weavery, bakery, produce market and seed store. All of these ideas will be included in Creative Living Community of Connecticut's Farmstead Village.

Our Current Program

The CLCC Greenhouse is a great success story. It hosts many growers and volunteers each week and grows delicious and nutritious micro greens.

The CLCC Greenhouse:

- Is open year round.
- Supplies micro greens to area restaurants.
- Hosts community workshops and open houses.
- Is the program incubator for the larger vision.

More about our greenhouse

The greenhouse creates a sustainable, agricultural micro enterprise for the future CLCC Farmstead Village by distributing to farmers markets, restaurants and local businesses.

The greenhouse also provides vocational training and a horticultural experience for adults with developmental disabilities, as well as senior citizens. Offering fresh, locally grown micro greens, CLCC is generating customer loyalty and benefiting the growers through a respectful work setting.

Who We Are

CLCC seeks to create a shared, inclusive living experience for individuals with and without developmental disabilities in a Farmstead Village, by focusing upon the gifts of all in mutually rewarding relationships.

We acknowledge a sense of belonging as a basic human need, cultivated in a shared community.

We recognize that a true community seeks to address the question, "How can we live together in a mutually rewarding manner?"

We understand that the authentic relationships developed in our community among individuals with and without disabilities will emphasize the need for interdependence, teamwork, compassion and the celebration of life.

We are committed to providing a community life that will promote a cooperative approach to activities such as gardening, cooking, art, dance, and even various chores.

We believe that through these endeavors each individual's gifts will be incorporated into a calming routine that will be rewarding and beneficial to all.
